

The Funnell Lightweight Turnout Rug

What the maker says
Waterproof with a cotton lining, in sizes 4ft 9in–7ft. In navy or royal blue (neckcover £28).

What our tester says
“A great, simply designed cheap turnout,” says

tester Becky Charles. “The material is thin, but it was fully waterproof and a nice length to allow total freedom of movement. It did rub slightly on the shoulders, but other than that it did the job well and at a good price.”

We like

- ✦ Inexpensive
- ✦ Great fit

IV horse 1200 Denier Turnout Rug

What the maker says
Nylon-lined with ripstop outer and free neckcover. Available in sizes 5ft–7ft 3in, in lilac only.

What our tester says
“This rug was protective yet fully breathable,” comments tester Adrianna Husk. “It kept my horse clean and dry, but never made him sweaty on warmer days. The free neck cover is a real perk, but it is still quite pricey. It does feel really well made, though.”

We like

- ✦ Great fit
- ✦ Durable design

We don't like

- ✦ A bit pricey

Jumpers Horse Line Lightweight Rug

What the maker says
Made of 600 denier rip-stop polyester, in sizes 4ft 6in–7ft. Green/red or grey/pink (neckcover £25.95).

What our tester says
“I found this rug to be quite thin,” says tester

Claire Banks. “Although this meant my horse wouldn't overheat on warm days, I'm not sure how much protection it would offer in the rain – I'd prefer a more robust model. But it did look smart and fasten securely.”

We like

- ✦ Smart and easy to put on

We don't like

- ✦ Thin material
- ✦ Little protection

Mark Todd Lightweight Turnout

What the maker says
A 600 denier Teflon-coated waterproof rug, in sizes 5ft 6in–7ft. Available in navy or dark-blue plaid.

What our tester says
“A great rug for freedom of movement,” says tester

Natasha Dick. “There was no rubbing and great attention to detail with the shoulder pleats, tail guard and quick-release fastenings. It was an all-round performer, as well as being good value for money.”

We like

- ✦ Well designed
- ✦ No rubbing

We don't like

- ✦ Nothing!

Shires Summer Stormbreaker

What the maker says
Waterproof ShireTex 600 denier with a cotton lining, in sizes 4ft–7ft. Available in grape check, navy/red and royal check.

What our tester says
“This turnout is really eye-catching,” says tester Sian

Hume. “It has carefully placed anti-rub areas and fitted well. The material also feels very strong and was fully waterproof. The only problem I had with it was the cross surcingle – they kept coming undone and could be better designed.”

We like

- ✦ Looked great
- ✦ Durable material

We don't like

- ✦ Poor fastenings
